

ENTP PERSONALITY

“Let’s blow this popsicle stand!”

-Katherine

Extroverted Intuitive Thinking Perception

A Little ‘bout Katie

Extroverted (interacting with people) more than Introversion (thinking things through) intuition (perceiving new possibilities) more than Sensing (perceiving tangible facts)
Thinking (making decisions using objective logic) more than Feeling (making decisions using subjective values) Perception (a flexible lifestyle) more than Judgment (an organized lifestyle). People with these characteristics are very fun to be around.

Who they are

ENTPs are inspired innovators, motivated to find new solutions to intellectually challenging problems. They are curious and clever, and seek to comprehend the people, systems, and principles that surround them. Open-minded and unconventional, Visionaries want to analyze, understand, and influence other people.

About Katherine

Katherine is a very social person who find intriguing ways of keeping great enthusiasm in any social situation where she leads and focuses in the ideas and concepts of a situation. She thinks very critically and analyses data perfectly, which is seen as a great perception in her part.

Currently, she is a manager at a law office where she helps her peers adjust their schedule, payroll, work, and much more. She is a born leader with a kind heart.

About ENTPs

ENTPs enjoy playing with ideas and especially like to banter with others. They use their quick wit and command of language to keep the upper hand with other people, often cheerfully poking fun at their habits and eccentricities. While the ENTP enjoys challenging others, in the end they are usually happy to live and let live. They are rarely judgmental, but they may have little patience for people who can’t keep up.

What makes the ENTP flourish

ENTPs are energized by challenge and are often inspired by a problem that others perceive as impossible to solve. They are confident in their ability to think creatively, and may assume that others are too tied to tradition to see a new way. The Visionary relies on their ingenuity to deal with the world around them, and rarely finds preparation necessary. They will often jump into a new situation and trust themselves to adapt as they go.
ENTPs are masters of re-inventing the wheel and often refuse to do a task the same way twice. They question norms and often ignore them altogether. Established procedures are uninspiring to the Visionary, who would much rather try a new method (or two) than go along with the standard.

Famous ENTPs

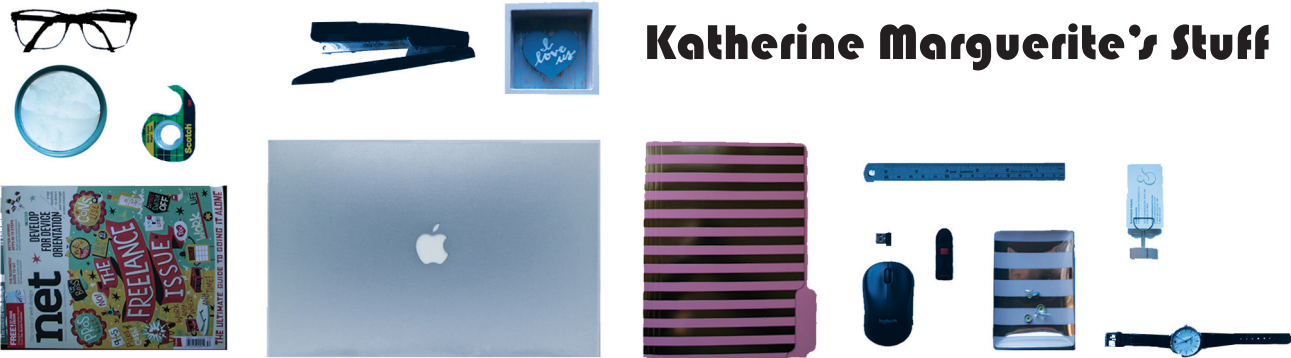

Famous ENTPs include Steve Jobs, Walt Disney, Thomas Edison, Benjamin Franklin, Richard Feynman, Leonardo da Vinci, Machiavelli, Nikola Tesla, Alfred Hitchcock

Strengths

Are enthusiastic, popular, energetic, charming. Possess very good communication skills. Are very focused on self-improvement and relationship growth. Are easy-going and flexible Focus on the big picture or grand scheme of things. Are often effective money makers, but ineffective money managers. Place commitments and relationships as a high priority. Are able to move on after a relationship without mixed emotions.

History

The original authors of the MMPI were Starke R. Hathaway, PhD, and J. C. McKinley, MD. The MMPI is copyrighted by the University of Minnesota.
The MMPI was designed as an adult measure of psychopathology and personality structure in 1939. Many additions and changes to the measure have been made over time to improve interpretability of the original Clinical Scales.
